

William Rupert
Manager, Energy Program

William Rupert is the Manager, Energy Program for the Northwest Pennsylvania Regional Planning and Development Commission. Mr. Rupert joined the Commission in 2008 as the Community Development Specialist prior to transitioning into this role.

In his current capacity, Mr. Rupert is responsible for the management of the Northwest Commission's energy program by providing assistance to local governments, schools, hospitals and nonprofit organizations with their energy needs. Additionally, he will look to uncover opportunities to increase energy efficiency and cost savings while reducing energy consumption for our local governments, schools, hospitals and nonprofits through technical assistance, education and bulk purchase consortiums.

Mr. Rupert completed both his undergraduate degree and subsequently his MBA at Penn State University. He was most recently employed by Johns Manville in Denver, CO as a Marketing executive specializing in Brand Management and Strategic Customer Relations.

Mr. Rupert grew up in Clarion County and has returned to the area with his wife Alexis and son Kyle to become a part of the Northwest Commission team. They reside in Knox and enjoy being close to family and old friends, and partaking of the many outdoor activities that the area has to offer.
