

Randy Rice
Director, Community Development

W. Randy Rice is the Director of Community Development and Planning for the Northwest Pennsylvania Regional Planning and Development Commission. Mr. Rice joined the Commission in 2007 as the Manager of Technology Development and most recently served as the Manager for Community Development and Planning.

In his current capacity Mr. Rice is responsible for leadership and direction of the Community Development team. Functions within this division of the Commission include community revitalization, municipal outreach, energy management, technology development, regional infrastructure planning, and geographic information management.

He was most recently employed at Clarion University of Pennsylvania in various roles including Assistant Director for Research and Development. He continues to serve on the board of the Clarion County Economic Development Corporation, and as a member of the Clarion County Technology Task Force.

Mr. Rice lives in Clarion with his wife, KeLeigh, and two children, Hunter and Teighlor, where they value the family centeredness of rural northwest PA and enjoy the intensity of the four seasons.
