

Katarina Ishman

Katarina Ishman is the International Trade Specialist at the Northwest Commission. In this position, she provides assistance to small and medium-sized Pennsylvania companies interested in developing or expanding their export business opportunities. Katarina informs and counsels Pennsylvania companies on all aspects of exporting and promotes the resources and programs that are available to them.

Ishman received a MBA in Marketing & Management from the faculty of Business Administration, University of Economics, Kosice, Slovakia in May of 2002. She started at the Commission in 2006 as an Administrative Assistant for the Community Development team and within a year, moved up to her current position. Prior to joining the Commission, she worked as a Human Resources Coordinator for a Village Property Management Group in Snowmass, Colorado.

Katarina is a Slovakia native that moved to northwest Pennsylvania in 2006. Prior to living in Pennsylvania, she lived in Colorado for almost two years. She enjoys the northwest Pennsylvania country lifestyle with her husband Brian, son Jakub, and daughter Elena.

