

Ned Goucher

Ned Goucher is the Senior Director of Organizational Development at the Northwest Commission. In this position, he oversees of the fiscal and marketing activities of the Commission. Other responsibilities include the building and property maintenance and administration of the ARC and EDA programs.

Ned holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Geography and City Planning from Indiana University. He also holds a Masters degree in City Planning from Ohio State University.

Ned has been a life-long resident of the region, and lives in Oil City (Venango County). As a father of two children, he recognizes that the region is a wonderful place to raise a family. The region provides a safe atmosphere, little traffic congestion or pollution, and has amazing outdoor areas for sight seeing and recreation.

