

Denise McCloskey
Executive Director

Ms. McCloskey is the Executive Director for the Northwest Pennsylvania Regional Planning and Development Commission, based in Oil City, Pennsylvania. This position demands that she lead a team of 24 as they seek to fulfill their mission working with a board of 22 from both the public and private sectors.

Prior to her current role, Ms. McCloskey served as Acting Executive Director for the agency from June 2005 until February 2006. In 2004 she was promoted to Deputy Director of Business and Economic Development where she directly supervised the Business Financing, Government Contracting, and International Marketing programs that are at the heart of the organization's business retention initiatives.

Ms. McCloskey's additional experiences include leading the International Marketing program as its Director for 12 years, where she and her team coordinated and implemented inbound and outbound trade missions, export training, and international marketing assistance to companies in the region.

Ms. McCloskey has been a life-long resident of the region, and lives in Tylersburg (Clarion County) with her husband Ron Kuleck. She is proud to live and work in beautiful northwest Pennsylvania, and enjoys working with colleagues who are equally committed to northwest Pennsylvania.
